

EnergiseLegal case study

Solicitors/Career Management/Career Transitions

From private practice to in-house employment law

The Brief

- A talented young lawyer, disillusioned with the prospect of long working hours if she stayed in private practice and wanting to identify a career with a healthy work life balance to bring up her future children.

My Role

- We helped our client to understand herself in-depth and clarify what she wanted from her future career.

The Result

- She resigned from her law firm and secured various short-term contracts to explore different work cultures and career options and used these as stepping stones to gain experience and confidence towards achieving her career goal of working in-house.
- She secured a legal counsel in-house role for a corporate.
